Foreword

We, the class of 1960, present the story of our year as seniors. Each experience of our past year has added one new memory, one new charm. Alone, they are insignificant; yet placed upon a chain of past experience, they form an invaluable segment of our lives. In this yearbook we have taken a representative object from each division of our school life to form the completed image.

ISABEL E. GRATER

In recognition

Fourteen years ago, when Mrs. Grater joined the office force at Collegeville-Trappe, the school gained a most colorful personality and a real friend. Although she laughingly referred to herself as a "girl of all trades," students who came to know her approved the caption but added, "and master of all." Her cheerful smile was often seen during the day as her tasks called her to many parts of the building in the service of teacher or student.

As Mr. Edward's secretary, the efficient office procedures practiced by Mrs. Grater gave students in the commercial course an excellent opportunity to observe skills which they hoped to acquire.

Words cannot describe the void created by Mrs. Grater's retirement. C. T. will miss her!

We hold these ideals in high esteem.

Diogenes' quest for one honest man is today comparable to a professor's search for the ideal student. To discover why, we have inquired of our faculty their individual impressions of this hypothetical student, and have fashioned the following model.

Of countless desirable traits, one held in high esteem is perseverance, the continual desire to succeed regardless of disappointments. Adjoining this steadfastness is intellectual curiosity; assignments completed, the student strikes out in his own field of interest, then shares and improves upon this knowledge by participation in classroom discussion.

Although striving towards honor grades, he realizes that equally significant extra-curricular activities are not to be disregarded. By taking an active part in the various phases of school life, he learns to accept responsibility and leadership, to give orders as well as take them. A tendency towards careless humor is tempered by a feeling of respect for himself and others as he faces new situations; patience, kindliness, and understanding become pass-words of his being.

To this well-rounded individual which we have created, and with the hope that this model will inspire our underclassmen sufficiently that they will diligently endeavor to attain this goal, we, the Class of 1960, respectfully dedicate this book.

The Perkiomen Joint School Board is composed of fifteen members, five from each of the three districts, Collegeville, Trappe, and Skippack. As a governing body dedicated to the service of our schools, they have tremendous responsibilities. They set the policies of our schools, exercise general supervision over curriculum and school activities, manage school property, and are responsible for providing through taxation the necessary finances for keeping our schools running at top level

Although the group meets regularly on the lourth Thursday of every month to transact necessary business, countless additional hours are spent by these dedicated people as they serve on permanent committees in charge of any of the numerous tasks, such as employing teachers, buying supplies, or supervising maintenance

Our deepest thanks go to these people who so unselfishly serve at the controls of our school district

Mr. Krug leaves this message to the Class of 1960

Congratulations upon your completion of high school study and your commencement of new activities. This excellent yearbook summarizes individual accomplishments as well as those of your class and your school We are justly proud of them

Thomas Huxley said, "If a little knowledge is dangerous, where is the man who has so much as to be out of danger?" You have learned many lessons. As you apply these to benefit your fellow men and yourselves, we trust that you will expand your understanding as responsibilities in crease

Be sure that goodness and Godliness will aid you in all your efforts We may pray with the Psalmist, "So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

Mr. Krug, our supervising principal, is one man who should have an extra day each week to perform all his duties, but by working literally day and night he manages to handle his many and various jobs most capably. In addition to supervising the faculty and students of the Perkiomen Joint School System, he is responsible for purchasing all equipment and supplies, interviewing applicants for teaching position, and initiating plans to improve our educational program, always working in cooperation with the school board

Despite days in his office and nights at meetings. Mr. Krug finds time to take part in community and church affairs, to enjoy his beloved music, and to spend a few treasured hours with his family He even finds an occasional day away from telephones and conferences to relax while he enjoys the sport of hunting

GOMER R. EDWARDS

To the Class of 1960

Over 250 years ago Sir Christopher Wren was commissioned to rebuild St. Paul's Cathedral after it had been burned down. It was to be his finest achievement

The site was cleared and then Wren asked for a suitable stone to mark the spot over which the dome of the new cathedral would be built

From out of all the tons of stone and rubble that lay around a workman brought a single stone. It had been part of a tombstone, and carved on it was one Latin word—Resurgam (I shall rise again). It meant nothing to the workman—but to Wren it meant everything. It seemed to him that in the one word was all he had hoped for

So that stone was chosen, and over it the new St. Paul's rose again, more glorious than before

Therein I think lies a message for all of us, to rise again to every emergency and misfortune that may lie ahead

... and leadership.

To Mr. Edwards falls the task of seeing that our school functions smoothly. One important factor is the master schedule. All student and teacher schedules must be coordinated to give each person the maximum benefits of his day. With the increase in entollment, the job of making the best use of available classroom space has been a tremendous task. In addition to scheduling, Mr Edwards plans the school calendar of sports events and social affairs, coping with the emergencies of playoffs and inclement weather

Realizing the ever-present need for improvement in subject matter, Mr. Edwards has been instrumental in bringing about important revisions in student curriculum—changes which will go into effect next year.

More important to all students, however, is the knowledge that our principal is never too busy to lend helpful counsel

Mr. Edwards relaxes with son, Richard

In maturing . . .

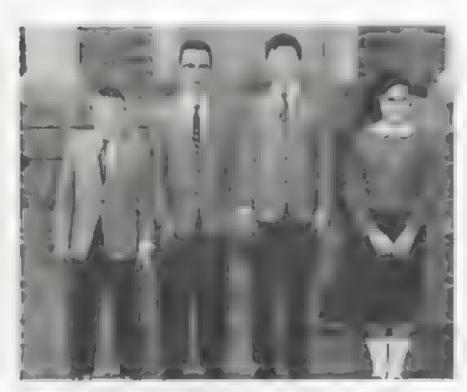

In September the seventh graders became adventurous pioneers, striving for acceptance in an unfamiliar wilderness. But now, after a year of hard toiling to cultivate their minds, the group has seen the settlement progress into a peaceful colony under the supreme command of the trailblazers—Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Pancoast, and Mr. Greager

Chief assistants for each settlement were elected to conduct community meetings, starting with the necessary business and concluding with informative programs and games

By 1965, they shall have built on this foundation and shall have produced a settlement worthy of the esteem of their teachers and fellow students

The stadium was ready in September to receive the no-longer "green" eighth graders. They were assigned to reserved seats by ushers, Mrs. Hyatt, Miss Rosciola, and Mr. Leftwich. Programs in the form of C.T. Handbooks were issued and the first race took place, the election of home room officers

Scheduled events followed in quick succession. The 8C's took a first in the Student Council Motto Contest; the 8A's took a third in the achievement of 100% Student Council Membership; and the 8B's provided excellent programs in music, hobbies, and bowling

Algebra and Latin prognostic tests in March made the students realize the Olympic school year was ending, and ninth grade was close at hand

Mrs deAngeli and Mr. Manley adopted the ninth graders, and together they spent a busy, happy year. The 9A's were led through conversational Russian and German, but the homeroom debates, which sometimes ensued, were done in English. During Latin Week, the 9A's visited the Franklin Institute and the Philadelphia Art Museum. In addition to informative and amusing homeroom programs, the 9B's held a bake sale and sent a Sunshine Box to a classmate who had an unfortunate accident Seven members of the ninth grade participated in the oratorical contest sponsored by the W. "Is it a participle or gerund?" "Where does the comma go?" These were questions often asked by Mrs. Pancoast's enthusiastic 8A English class. Grammatical accuracy was their pass word. Literature was also of interest to the class as they read American masterpieces such as "Evangeline."

Agility and coordination were required of the 7B-C girls to perform monkey-like antics. Besides rope climbing and mat work, calisthenics were done which improved postures and figures. In addition, Mrs. Thomas taught these gymnasts rudiments of sports such as basketball, softball, and hockey

We organized as a class . . .

Foundations for the building of a new class began this September with the uniting of the two sections of the Sophomore Class. The construction job was engineered by building contractor, Mr. Thompson and his crew Thomas Hales, president; Margaret Gregory, vice president; Beverly Krause, secretary, and Barbara Bullinger, treasurer

Having laid the foundation, the first story of the building began with the traditional Sophomore Candy Sale with top salesmen George Staub, Alvin Bowers, and Robert Nester. The candy was supplied by the "Dutch Farms" and the "Pennsylvania Dutch" Candy Companies. The class, completing this, was given a short rest period

During the "coffee break" the 10A homeroom, under the direction of Miss Tyson, was the winner of the contest sponsored by the Student Council for the best blackboard drawing of a Christmas picture. The 10B homeroom, with their sponsor Mr. Jabaut, enjoyed pictures of State Parks

The rest period over, the crew went back to continue work on the first floor of the building. The next big project to be completed was the Sophomore Dance, "February Fantasy," festively decorated in turquoise and white, with music to please everybody Record albums were given as prizes.

Following this, the class rolled up its sleeves and sponsored a paper drive in the spring

By June, 1960, a strong foundation and first story have been completed, and the class has great hopes for future success.

Pictured is the winning blackboard of the annual Christmas decoration contest sponsored by Student Council This holiday season, the winners were the homeroom members of 118.

On the pier, ready to embark on the voyage of our Junior year, we checked our baggage to be sure it included the experience and profits from our Sophomore enterprises. We crossed the gangplank to elect our crew's officers, Class rings, distributed by our captain, Mr. John Miller, became our permanent identification as passengers on the SS1961.

Enthusiasm rode high as our ship left the harbor. We plunged into our first undertaking, the magazine sale, anxious to sell subscriptions to the first people sighted. After proving our salesmanship, the captain rewarded the super-salesman with prizes

While steaming onward, we decked our ship with paper hearts and streamers for the annual "King and Queen of Hearts Dance"

"Fevrier Romance" introduced some original ideas: a court for the King and Queen, and keeping the names of the royalty secret until the moment of crowning

Soon the decorations were torn down, and our ship was ransacked for properties. Would-be Thespians spent long hours memorizing lines and rehearing with our social director, Mr. Jabaut, to make our play, "You Can't Take It With You" a success

Realizing our cruise was near its end, every effort was exerted to make the prom a night to remember. With beautiful music of the Preludes drifting into the night, we caught a glimpse of our destination—our Senior year Land Ho!

There's a party tonight, girls!

March 11 and 12, the dates for our Junior Play, came and went as fast as our knees were knocking. The play was a complete success, although poor Moss Hart and George Kaufman would probably never have recognized our jumbled version of their comedy, "You Can't Take It With You" Members of the cast, not listed above, were Judy Ziegler, Kenneth Alderfer, Lloyd McKendrick, Robert Tyson, Patricia Field, Richard Kriebel, Kathy Dolman, Jack Clawson, Martha Creager, William Derby, Joseph Polinski, James Holmes, and Patricia Fretz

Despite all the work, everyone enjoyed himself immensely. You may be certain that whether the junior was on the stage or behind it, the play was close to his heart

C. KERMIT PALOMAKI

Influential in consolidating the three sections of the Class of 1960 was our cooperative sponsor Mr. Kocher. Guided by his efficient manner, we were able to overcome obstacles which confronted our newly organized class in 1958

In 1954, the year of his graduation from Pennsylvania State University, Mr. Kocher began teaching at Collegeville-Trappe. The student body and especially the science department suffered a considerable loss when he left to teach at Hughesville High School for a year

Upon his return in 1957, Mr. Kocher coached the Varsity Basketball team and assisted Mr. Fretz on the football field besides teaching his science and mathematics courses Although at the end of our sophomore year, we were saddened to learn that Mr. Kocher was leaving, we were pleased he had been given the opportunity to further his education under a National Defense Education Association fellowship

He is now residing in North Wales with his wife and daughter, and is teaching at Radnor High School

We appreciate . . .

We, the class of 1960, express our sincere thanks to a wonderful, unfailing advisor, Mr. Palomaki. Because of his wise counsel and supervision, we were always able to attain our goals

Both trying and satisfying situations arose throughout the years in conjunction with dances, projects, and plays, but our advisor was always near to share our feelings of discouragement or pride. Throughout the two years Mr. Palomaki served us, he was never too busy to hear our class problems, nor to set out with our class officers to solve all the difficulties of a graduating class. Many times he would look up from a stock of school papers at a troubled senior who was pondering over a problem beyond his understanding or control. Mr. Palomaki gave us as much time from his busy schedule as we required and never uttered a complaint.

Since he is active in community as well as school affairs, many organizations have benefited from the abilities and services of Mr. Palomaki. Still, his most cherished hours are spent at home with his wife and two sons.

This is Mr. Palomaki to whom we seniors owe a great debt of gratitude and appreciation.

... your service in class leadership.

Class Colors: Red and White

Class Flower: Red and White Carnation

Class Song: Stardust

Class Motto: Today decides tomorrow

A number of charms on our bracelet are those representing the patient people who led our class. We salute with gratitude and appreciation our officers

Although we experienced a great loss when William Shainline, our president for two years, transferred to another school, we were fortunate when Walter Korenkiewicz took up the reins to do a superb job of leading our class. In addition to presiding at meetings, to him fell the job of appointing committees and working with them on all our projects. He also proved a fine "liaison officer" between the seniors, the faculty, and the administration

Standing by, ready to take over in Walter's absence, was our capable vice-president, Frank Kaplan. He gave unsparingly of his time to class matters, not the least of which

SENIOR OFFICERS

President	Walter Korenkiewicz
Vice-President	Frank Kaplan
Secretary	Jane Richards
Treasurer	lo Ann Rosica

was the photography editorship of our 1960 Colonel

Walter's second assistant was a veteran officer, Jane Richards, secretary, who recorded class proceedings, and attended to necessary correspondence, keeping us abreast of all business at hand

Keeper of the 1960 budget and constant solicitor of dues was our treasurer, Jo Ann Rosica. She will be remembered hurrying in and out of Miss Major's office, always on the job to deposit our hard-earned money or to see to the payment of our numerous bills

When you want a good job done, give it to a busy man. Surely, this refers to all our class leaders. The record shows that these four people were active not only as class officers, but also as some of C T's most important leaders.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Front Rows Keyser, Miss Tyson, Mr. Yeakel, Zollers Row 2: Krehl, Smith, Clement, Thompson, Korenkiewicz Richards, Krill, Bacon, Nester

We honor fellow students.

The Howard B. Keyser Chapter of the National Honor Society was newly incorporated into College-ville-Trappe High School last year through the efforts of our principal, Mr. Gomer Edwards. The purpose of this society is to honor students who possess the qualities represented by its emblem—scholarship service, leadership, and character

Seniors are elected to membership by a committee composed of five faculty members headed by cosponsors Miss Edwardine Tyson and Mr. Nelson Yeakel

The first requirement for admission is that a student must maintain an average of ninety or better in grades ten through twelve. He is then judged for the other qualities represented by the emblem. Also taken into consideration are the student's extra-curricular activities

Seniors who were elected to the society were invested during a special assembly program on April 28th. As symbols of their achievement, they received the nationally recognized Honor Society key. Four student speakers clarified the purpose of this organization and inspired undergraduates to strive for admission into the National Honor Society, the highest form of recognition a student may attain

These were the Honor Society Assembly speckers

We gathered fond memories . . .

"SATELLITE 60 LAUNCHED"

The multistage rocket containing Satellite '60 was launched September, 1957. It was guided into the troposphere by head pilot Mr Kocher, assisted by president, Bill Shainline, vice-president, Doug Clemens; secretary, Jane Richards; and treasurer, Shirley Carson. The first stage, a candy sale, gave the ship the thrust necessary to escape the restricting gravity. One of the brightest stars encountered on this trip was "Rock and Roll Rhapsody," highlighted by the presence of Johnny Carlton

Upon the firing of the booster rockets, the first stage fell behind; and we were prepared to speed onward, utilizing the power of the second stage, our Junior Year.

SATELLITE '60 NEARING DESTINATION

by now, September, 1958, well into its second stage. We were assigned a new commander, Mr. Palomaki. With president, Bill Shainline; vice president, Barbara Bacon; secretary, Jane Richards; and treasurer, Jo Ann Rosica also at the controls, we undertook our major project, a magazine sale. During the long flight, dances were given—"Colonel's Romp," "Cupids Coronation," and the Junior-Senior Prom. "Bon Sawai." A play, "The Night of January 16," was produced to prepare us for the all-important third stage, our Senior year

So this is what the refreshment committee does!

Candid shot of perplaxed photographer and "assistants"

... through experience.

SATELLITE '60 WELL IN ORBIT

As seniors we entered the ultimate stage of our maneuver. With yearbook bills and a class trip looming ahead, we realized powerful propellants were required. The first of these was a successful Christmas card sale. followed by the long anticipated Senior Ball, "Winter Holiday," and an outstanding musical comedy, My Sister Eileen. Scholastic and athletic honors culminated our endeavors

From the launching pad to the orbiting satellite, many obstacles were overcome, but a glance at the space station on the drawing board makes us realize our project is not complete—opportunity as infinite as space lies before us

Prospective Colonels reported to Head Coach Fretz and assistants Mr. Hilt, Mr. Manley, and Mr Greager on August 18, 1959, with hopes of capturing their third straight Inter-County Football Championship

With only nine returning lettermen the coaches worked diligently and relentlessly to whip the squad into top shape for their first contest with West Reading on September 19

Tied by a strong West Reading unit, the Colonels lought back and trounced a favored Upper Dublin team by a 39-15 count. Inspired by the victory, the Colonels squeezed by Lower Moreland, 21-20, and toppled Jenkintown and Exeter by scores of 32-13 and 33-13, respectively. After defeating Bridgeport, 25-12, and after two postponements, the Colonels met a stubborn Pottsgrove team and suffered their first defeat of the season by a 18-6 score which eliminated their hopes of the championship

The Colonels finished their season by dropping a hard-lought 25-13 verdict to champion Wyomis sing, and thus secured second place in the Inter-County League.

VARSITY HOCKEY

Early in September the resounding whacks of hockey sticks could be heard. The girls had started their practices, which consisted of rule sessions, drills, and scrimmages

After weeks of daily workouts, Coach Thomas picked her starting eleven and drilled them on speed and specific hockey skills. Although the team fought hard to win, only once did they come out victorious, by defeating Bridgeport, 3-0. Win or lose, the girls always practiced good sportsmanship and athletic courtesy

To climax the season's activities, the team held its annual hockey banquet at the Kopper Kettle and honored Mrs. Thomas and the graduating members: Captain, Jane Richards, Kathy Bibbs, Sandy Zollers, Janice McNatt, Barbara Krehl, Verda Lesher, Barbara Bacon, and Carolyn Place

JUNIOR VARSITY HOCKEY

Rain, sleet, or snow couldn't have dampened the spirits of these future varsity stars, who were out to win every game. Like the varsity, they learned the meaning of teamwork and good sportsmanship. Although most of the girls were novices in the game and faced their opponents armed mainly with enthusiasm, they managed to come out on top

The squad has had many valuable experiences in training for positions on next year's varsity team. The junior varsity will always remember the hockey banquet, the games they won, and the half-time oranges

With a nucleus of three returning lettermen, all of whom had received Inter-county League recognition the previous year, prospects looked good for the team. Under the able direction of Coach George Hilt, and Captain Jack Hefelfinger, they drilled faithfully through November and early December until the first preliminary game with Springford Proving to be a strong adversary, the Rams outscored our courtmen. Undaunted, they bounced back to trample Daniel Boone twice in succession. Opening league competition, the Colonels met defeat by Upper Dublin and Jenkintown, but again snapped back to defeat Bridgeport, Lower Moreland, and

Schwenksville in a brilliant finish for the first half

Following a successful first half, they held high hopes of entering the Class B District playoffs. Heading toward that goal, they conquered Upper Dublin 57-50. The loss to Jenkintown was understandably overshadowed by two successive victories over Bridgeport and Pottsgrove. Still unsure of a champion-ship, hopes were again dampened by a loss to Lower Moreland. Seesawing back again, C-T overshadowed rival Schwenksville to lorce a three-way tie of Upper Dublin, Lower Moreland, and Collegeville-Trappe. Entering the playoffs, defeat was met in an overtime period to Lower Moreland

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Spirit was a prime asset to our team this year. Under the able direction of coach Mrs. Thomas, the girls experienced a valuable lesson in true sportsmanship and acquired many techniques in the art of basketball. Cooperation is yet another factor to their credit. For without this, they could not have been the close unit they were.

High scorer this season was Jane Richards with a total of 35 points. Close behind, with 31, was Mary Ann Heebner; Kathy Bibbs racked up an additional 16 points for C-T

J.V. BASKETBALL

With a final record of three wins and only one loss, the girls on the J.V. Basketball team had good reason to be proud. Practicing with their sister team, the Varsity, these eager Colonelettes learned good sportsmanship as well as acquiring many new skills.

Facing their first game with high hopes, they calmed jittery nerves just enough to squeeze by Lower Moreland, 29-20. More sure of themselves and better acquainted with playing techniques, they swamped their second opponent, Pottsgrove. However, Upper Dublin proved a superior adversary, downing C.T., 33-11. Undaunted, the girls came back to conquer Bridgeport.

With further practice, these girls have hopes of becoming future varsity players and heading a championship team.

BASEBALL

In 1959, the Colonels, under the able direction of Coach Fretz, began the season with eyes focused on the crown of the newly organized Inter-County Baseball League With the winning streak of the first eight consecutive games, they began to realize their ambition, but dropped the next two games after losing the services of the league's leading hitter, Dale Robinson. With stiff determination, however, they came back to win the last two games and to capture the first Inter-County League championship

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

Spring and softball are boon companions, so early in April the 1959 Softball squad, coached by Mrs. Thomas, started practice. Having made full use of the long, warm days, the girls' hard work and enthusiasm paid off in their first game with Pottsgrove. It was nip and tuck all the way, but C.T. was able to hold its opponents scoreless in the last inning and gain two runs to win, 8-7 Although the team carried their high spirits throughout the balance of the season, they did not come out victorious again

Spontaneous laughter emanated from Room 127 as the editors, Mr. Lawson, and Mr. Leftwich examined pictures which the photographer had just submitted. Sighs of relief were audible when the layout of a divider was finally decided upon. Groans were issued as the literary staff realized that the write-up they had just finished was much too long. Mrs. Pancoast's heels were heard clicking down the hall, as she brought articles which had been approved and others which had to be rewritten. The noise of typewriters pounding out the graphic story caused students to stop and wonder. All of these sounds gave evidence of hours of toil which went into accurately depicting the history of the Class of 1950

Sr. High Glee Club

'Crescendo! Watch the diminuendo!" directed Mr. Steltz as the Senior High songbirds rehearsed—often early in the morning. Sometimes a short battle took place between the altos and sopranos, but eventually true harmony resulted. Five boys added their voices this year to the vocal group whose religious and secular music added much enjoyment to assembly programs. The climax of the year was the annual Spring Concert

Jr. High Glee Club

Hard, but pleasant work was the fare enjoyed by the Junior High Glee Club. When a new song was to be learned, Mrs. Scheid and the girls listened to professional recordings. This not only showed them how experts had mastered the selection, but also provided diversion from tedious practice sessions needed in preparation for the Christmas assembly and spring concert

Hi-Y

Regional meetings, conferences, and rallies throughout the year filled a busy Hi-Y calendar. Along with their sponsor, Mr. Leftwich, these boys will be remembered at CT. for their aid to school and community and for the high standards of Christian character they displayed. Busy as they were, they found time to build strong friendships within their group through club get-togethers.

Tri-Hi-Y

Helping the needy at home and abroad combined with many social activities to fill a busy year for the girls in Tri-Hi-Y. Under the leadership of Mrs. Pancoast the members took an active part in the Southeastern District of Tri-Hi-Y, attending conferences and rallies. The main source of income for their good deeds was the popular annual "Miss Hockey-Mr. Football Dance."

Red and Gold

Have you heard the latest? No? Hmmm—haven't been reading the Red and Gold, have you? Our school newspaper, published under the capable guidance of Mr. Palomaki, Mr Lawson, and Mr. Jabaut, kept the students well-informed concerning the activities in our hallowed halls, and reviewed all the latest sports highlights. The news-packed fun-filled pages of the Red and Gold were enjoyed by the students and faculty alike

Typing Club

"A picture is worth a thousand x's". Indian heads, ships, and peacocks evolved in outline form as the members of the typing club followed Mr. Palomaki's directions. Neatness is only one qualification of a competent typist; these students also acquired speed and accuracy. In preparation for the business world, they mastered advanced skills, such as the dictaphone, which affords an opportunity to type from dictation

Home Nursing Club

Moans issuing from Mrs. Wagner's office did not always indicate illness, as the Home Nursing Club took over Room 111 during club periods. Using each other as guinea pigs, the girls performed and underwent all sorts of harrowing experiences. But valuable lessons were learned, such as how to read a thermometer, apply first aid, and make patients comfortable

Girls' Sports Club

In addition to the typical girls' sports—hockey, basketball, baseball, and volleyball,—Mrs. Thomas incorporated a brief study of modern day dance steps to add interest to the activities of the Girls' Sports Club. With enthusiasm the girls mastered these steps and were willing to demonstrate their newly-acquired skills upon hearing the lilting melody of any familiar song

CRAFTS CLUB

Front Bow: Lacy, Detwiler, Kratz, Mr Thompson, Fretz, Douglas, O Donnell Bow 2: Kelley, Stevenson, Allebach, Moody, Kane Bow 3: Lehman, Schmidt, Opperman, Arnold, Burychka

Crafts Club

"Do it yourself" is the by-word of today—and certainly a fitting slogan for the members of the Crafts Club. Having been taught the rudiments of woodworking by Mr. Thompson, the club members were able to turn out a variety of useful items. After their projects were finished, the members worked independently, and by experimentation and improvision produced unusual results

Needlework Club

With satisfaction the girls in the Needlework Club looked over the objects they had created with flying needles, a vast array of materials, and long hours of tedious work Knitting and crocheting, also important to these future seamstresses, were not neglected Picking up the stitch where Miss Rosciola left off, Mrs. Hyatt continued knitting a happy, closely-woven club

NEEDLEWORK

AVIATION CLUB

INDUSTRIAL ARTS SOCIETY

Front Rows Unruh, Mr Thompson, Robinson, Back Rows Schmidt, Rohm, Nester, McKendrick, Alderler Clemens

Aviation Club

"Up in the air juntor bird men!" In this day and age everyone seems to be looking up. Many juntor high boys with avid curiosity learned about what is going on above them through movies, discussions, and actually flying their own model planes, under Mr. Miller's able supervision. The boys of today may be the men on the moon tomorrow

Industrial Arts Society

Thanks to the boys of the Industrial Arts Society the tool room of the shop has a new look. It has become a finishing room. These boys met several times a month to work on individual projects. One goal toward which they worked was a twenty-five dollar War Bond, awarded to the member submitting the best house plans

Our friendly caleteria ladies await the noon hour stampede

We thank you for service.

If something was lost, broken, or soiled, students and faculty called on Mr. Gottshall or his assistants. These men played an important part in every school function from regulating classroom temperatures to finding extension cords for dances

Another staff who worked efficiently behind the scenes consisted of Mrs. Dietrich and her culinary artists who planned and prepared wholesome school lunches

Day is done, and Mr Gottshall lowers the flag

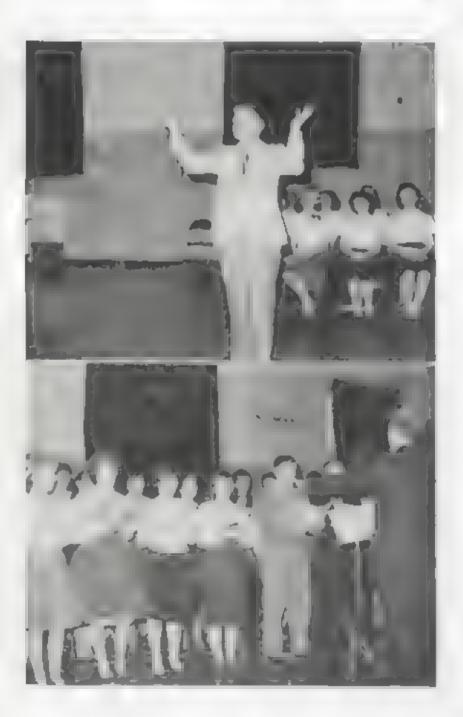

Student teachers from Ursinus compare notes

Cultural entertainment was presented . . .

Pep railies began the school year with a cheer and a clash of cymbals, and there ensued a series of educational and entertaining assemblies

The band, our Glee Clubs, the Ursinus College Meistersingers, and the Navy Band provided enjoyment for our musical ear. Delving into science and drama we watched a glass-blower, a demonstration on the evolution of clocks, a full-length movie, and a Shakes-pearean actor

Along with being entertained we were also honored. The annual Student Council installation and the Awards Assemblies were supplemented this year by a National Honor Society program

Throughout the year these assemblies aflorded pleasant diversions from the school work day

- . Naval Band provided an enjoyable alternoon of enterlainment
- Mr Palomaki shows talent as a choral director as well as leader of pep rallies
- 3 Mr Steltz and the Senior Glee Club present the annual Christmas program

... and appreciated.

- Vases, magnifying glasses, and miniature ships were part of this memorable assembly
- 2 Shakespearean actor Jack Rank presents a comical scene from "Macboth"

- 3. Newly inducted Student Council President Jack Hefelfinger poses with fellow officers and speakers
- 4 During the impressive Student Council assembly, representatives are presented to the student body
- Mr Leftwich congratulates Geraldine Kriebel, spelling bee winner

Farewell

Our high school years completed, we now look forward to a new phase of our lives, confident that the knowledge obtained here will aid us in our separate ways. We wish to express our appreciation to those who have so patiently guided and inspired us. And now, clasping our finished bracelet, we wave a fond farewell and wish success to all the future graduates of Collegeville-Trappe

Esterbrook fountain pens write with the amazing new miracle discovery-INK!

DON'T BOTHER to have your handwriting analyzed. It probably looks just like your room-mate's. . No character at all.

Wait until you come to your senses and buy the smart looking Esterbrook Classic fountain pen—with the point that's custom-fitted for you.

The Esterbrook Classic starts writing instantly—the minute it touches the paper Feels so 'right' in the hand ... and looks good, too! Choice of six colors.

Another thing—the Esterbrook Classic always uses ink. You'll like ink once you get used to it. It makes clearly discernible marks on the paper.
